RUSSIA HOLDS FATE OF WORLD IN HER HANDS

Lenine and Trotsky Get Full Sway, Hope is Lost, Says Churchill.

MUST QUELL HUNGARIANS

Alfied Peace Conference Convinced, Says Paris Paper, That Only by Sending Army Into Country is There Possibility of Finding Disorder.

By Associated Press.

LONDON Thursday July 17.—Russia at the present moment, is the key to the future peace of the world and the refuting of that country must be the first duty of the League of Nations, said Winston Churchill secretary of state for war in an address at a British club dinner tonight.

If the whole of Russia and its resources fall into the hands of Lenine and Trotsky the whole power of the Bolshevik forces will be thrown against those states which have been promised the protection of the League of Nations. If the Bolshevik forces prevail in Russia those states, says Churchill, will fall into the hands of Germany.

Mr. Churchill predicted an entire change in the situation within a fortnight but did not explain what it might be.

HALF PER CENT BEER LEGAL, IS BREWER'S CLAIM

Decision of U. S. Attorney Against All Alcohol Contested by Pittsburgh Company.

Hotel men just don't know what to do these days. There are no unobscured no more. Beer is made about beer and near beer. They are pretty much up in the air all the time. Yesterday word came that United States Attorney R. Crawford at Pittsburgh had pronounced the death knell of all beer by deciding that even one-half of one per cent of acohol was illegal. This is disputed by the Pittsburgh Brewing company which claims that it will continue the manufacture and sale of beer containing one-half of one per cent. It is at the U. S. Attorney's office that he had received word from the Department of Justice that it was legal to make and dispense such beverages.

In the mean time prohibition forces in Pittsburgh are down every attempt to eliminate the sale of beer by the general enforcement bill.

One of the newest in this home according to a recent announcement is manufacture of beer. So now they come and put a state still out of business. It looked for a while that he was had won one little victory. When an amendment to permit a man charged with violation of the prohibition act might demand and obtain bail by jury was passed 70-66 the dry sentiment on a call for aid and when the members marched up and were the members lost out finally by two to one.

PITTSBURG BREWING OFFICERS FILED NO GUINITY

PITTSBURG July 8.—Eleven of the officers of the Pittsburgh Brewing company defendants in the government suit charging violation of the war time prohibition law entered pleas of not guilty in federal court today. Their attorneys to charges of violating the dry act by selling beer containing 2 1/2 per cent alcohol recently were overruled by Judge W. H. Thomson. Each of the defendants is under $10,000 bail for the November term of the federal court at Erie.

Geiger on Force. Henry Geiger is working for a week in the place of Patrolman J. Bert Rich who is out of the city on business.

HAPPY DAYS ARE THESE FOR SCOUTS AT CAMP WILDWOOD

News From the Press Agent Indicates That Boy Who Misses Good Time Is Not Right Straps.

Camp Wildwood at White Bridge is the scene of more activity than at any time since the Boy Scouts were first organized in Connellsville. The boys are always on the go and in addition to all other sports and work they have organized a baseball team with which to take honors from other camps in the valley and are also editing a camp paper called The Wildwood Scout. It contains quite a number of interesting notes about the camp. In lieu of a press type writer is used.

There is considerable rivalry among the members of each tent for the honor. The honor flag is awarded each morning, to the tent leader making the best showing in the daily inspection. The camp is in shape and span shape and the boys expect to surprise their visitors who will be guests next Tuesday county day.

Several interesting items of news from the camp J. H. Robinson camp secretary follow.

Two of our officers disobeyed a rule of the camp by oversleeping with the result that they had to hit one another five times with a nice paddle which Commissioner Witt had made for the purpose.

Monday evening we welcomed with great joy a cook after having to do without one for three days. Believe us when we say we had some dinner Wednesday night the third watch turned in one hour too soon and forgot to rouse the fourth watch. The whole camp slept in that morning until 8 o'clock instead of rising at 6:30.

We have some fine athletes in camp but we think Commissioner Witt had better try for something else than jumping. He attempted to go over a bar with fence and succeeded with the exception of his trousers part of which still adorn the bar.

Wednesday night the scouts elected Sam Volnick captain of the camp crew. We expect to defeat Camp Barr Camp Noback and other valley camp teams.

The opening days of camp this year have been not but thanks to our tents and cots we have all remained high and dry.

Tent inspection takes place every morning. Every tent is cleaned out and made more attractive. Tuesday morning honors were awarded as follows: First Tent No. 4 second Tent No. 10 third Tent No. 2.

The chef has made quite a hit with the scouts. The boys say he is getting better each meal. Our officers are as follows: R. C. Witt camp director J. H. Smith assistant camp director Walter Smith a blithe director J. H. Robinson camp secretary William Lyon commissary manager.

FIRE AT POWER PLANT

Power Off Here for Hour and a Half, Pageant Spectators Delayed

Trouble at the West Penn power station at Fayette deprived the system of power from the local plant of light power and transportation for a short time last night. By connecting up the Windsor Va. and Pittsburgh power houses all but the Connellsville area was supplied with current with but little delay, but a burned out switch resulted in the city being without power for over an hour. Late trouble threw out a switch in the high tension room causing it to ignite. Oil covering the switches also caught fire and threw off clouds of dense smoke making entry to the room impossible for a time. After the fire was extinguished connection was established with the two other plants. The burned out switch however had to be repaired before Connellsville and vicinity could be supplied. The power first went off at 6 o'clock. At 8:30 things were normal in all of the district.

City people on their way to Uniontown for the pageant waited from 6:30 to 7:30 for a car at the latter hour the four big specials were started for Uniontown but because of weak power at first the trip took an hour and three quarters the speedway being reached at about 9:15.

Dr. McDermott Buys Home. Dr. W. A. McDermott has purchased the W. H. Yaw property on North Eighth street. The laws will make their home on a farm in Dunbar town ship for the present. The deal was made through the I. L. Horowitz agency which bought the property through the A. E. Wagoner agency.

HALF WATERMELON EACH GOOD ENOUGH FOR DUSKY BOXERS

Would-be Jack Dempseys at Camp Marshall Henderson Delight Soldiers.

PRIVATE MCGUIRE HOME

Member of Company Compelled to Leave Camp on Account of Mother's Illness; John Barclay Corps Captain a Personal Buzzard, Other Camp Notes.

By Associated Press. CAMP MARSHALL HENDERSON, MOBILE, Ala., July 15.—A member of an amateur pugilist and meat pugilist has been sent home from the camp on account of his mother's illness. The main event was held on the green in front of regimental headquarters with Colonel Blunt as referee and his aides as the honor judges.

Some canvass was stretched out to make a ring and two dummies were brought up from the states. They were some boxers. But to insure the proper amount of pay for the part of the contestants a big pipe watermelon was laid out by the ring and a collection amounting to four or five dollars taken up—all to go to the winner.

Major Johnson of the hospital corps then put the men through a physical examination and whispered something in the ear of the last man which sounded suspiciously like "Give him a good one." The battery was not remembered the Maine. It was remembered the watermelon and every time that was mentioned one of the dusky gentlemen would put over an extra fine upper cut or stomach jab.

At the end of the second round the referee suggested that the boxers take their shoes off to keep from slipping. This was done and an immediate and urgent cry went up for gas masks. They kept going for six rounds and then not even watermelon could inspire any further fight effort, so the purse was divided up and they left for quarters with the watermelon between them.

The bouts in the company streets are called a draw as soon as blood is drawn and the blood has been flowing freely. A bunch of men who were out of camp last night after hours rushed the guard and broke into camp. As a result the guard has been doubled and some of the lads are due to land in the guard house tonight as the Mount.

STRICT QUARANTINE RULES ARE PROVIDED BY NEW HEALTH LAW

Broader Powers Conferred Upon State Health Department in Handling Contagious Diseases.

Governor Sproul yesterday signed the new contagious disease bill which gives the State Department of Health power relative to quarantines and their enforcement in times of outbreaks of disease throughout the state. The measure is the result of the trouble caused when the State Health Department tried to enforce quarantine for the influenza epidemic last fall.

The measure specifies what are considered communicable diseases and has a provision which allows the department and the advisory board to declare as communicable diseases all diseases which it deems it necessary to safeguard human life. The bill also contains provisions for the reporting of physicians, first class townships, boroughs and cities and establishes periods of quarantine for various diseases.

The bill also carries regulations concerning schools and places of public gatherings and also regulates the sale and use of bedding clothing and articles which have been exposed to disease and regulates the holding of funerals of persons who have died from communicable diseases. It in craves penalties for a failure to report diseases and unenforcement of proper quarantines.

LATER NEWS SAYS SIX

By Associated Press.

BLANCHETT, W. Va., July 18.—Two hundred twenty-one men were killed and several hundred injured in a terrible explosion which destroyed the Lammell coal mine here today. The explosion followed the blast and resulted in the death of 221 men. Many bodies have been recovered. A number of miners are still trapped in the mine shaft.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 18.—A long distance telephone message received here this afternoon by Dr. J. Parker, safety chairman at the Bureau of Mines from Blanchett, W. Va., said more than 200 miners were killed in an explosion at the Lammell mine near Bluefield.

Heuberman, chief of the state department of mines, said he had been informed that only six men had been killed in the explosion at the Lammell coal mine near Bluefield and that the other bodies would be recovered before night. A local gas explosion in the mine, Chief Heuberman said, caused the fatalities. He declared only 200 men were employed in the mine and that all except the six had escaped. Mr. Heuberman said this report was received from his deputy inspector in that district by telegram.

PRESENTED UNDER HANDICAPS, PAGEANT IS AGAIN A SUCCESS

Connellsville Players Come in For Lion's Share of the Applause.

TROLLEYS CAUSE DELAY

Local Performers Held Up in Hour Before Starting for Lack of Power on West Penn Lines, Trip Consumes Two Hours, Performance Is Late.

Though stage under difficulties and over an hour late starting, Connellsville's big pageant, The Historical Progress of Fayette County, was presented successfully last night at the Speedway as part of Union town's homecoming celebration for service men. As at the presentation here, honors went to Connellsville performers and credit to the Connellsville people who conceived and staged the spectacle. About 15,000 people were present local folks say.

Local people in the east who were to have left here at 6:30 did not get started until an hour later because of the accident at the West Penn power plant which stopped all cars and when they did get going the power was so weak that it took until 9:15 to reach the speedway. It was after 10 o'clock before the pageant began and long after midnight when it ended. Applause was frequent during the performance with Connellsville players coming in for the lion's share of it.

The wind was mild in that it blew away from the stands where the main portion of the crowd was seated so that the fire of the chorus and orchestra accompaniment could be heard. The lighting effects also were unusual.

Despite this combination of adverse circumstances the spectacle was given smoothly and impressively. The Uniontown Herald is generous in its praise of the pageant, especially so of the dancing. It says: "The wind however lent buoyancy to the beautiful dances and chaffron and the drape of the gown is the dance of dawn of the wood sprites and the West Penn North West South and East. No single feature of the entire performance was more beautifully done or more effective than this graceful colorful dance in which the Connellsville players were the stars."

MEETING CALLED TO TALK PLANS FOR GENERAL HOSPITAL

City Men Will Get Together on Proposition Next Monday Night.

NEED OF ONE APPARENT

Community Men Benefit from Lesson Taught During Flu Epidemic in City Last Year and Prepare for Such Emergencies in the Future.

To discuss plans for a general hospital in Connellsville and if the work is to be done to take the burden off the ward's capacity, an organization of a meeting of city men has been called for Monday night July 21 at the Red Cross room at 1010 1/2 North 10th street.

In his invitation Mr. Hooper says: "To some persons for a long time and to many in more recent months, the need of a general hospital in Connellsville has become increasingly apparent. To discuss plans for making such an institution possible in our city and if the way be clear to the measures for the possession of such plans a meeting of some public spirit of men of Connellsville is called to meet in the Red Cross room at 1010 1/2 North 10th street at 8:30 o'clock on Monday night, July 21."

The need of a general hospital here has long been realized but never so much so as last year when the influenza epidemic struck this section like a plague and exacted a heavy toll of lives.

Then the fact came home that Connellsville was absolutely without a place for treatment of medical cases especially victims of an epidemic malady. The cottage clinic hospital was equipped to handle only surgical cases and was not able to relieve the situation. The opening of an emergency hospital in the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Y. M. C. A. building at a time when the community was appalled at the ravages of the disease and physicians in despair proved the valuation of many a life and was the biggest factor in eventually controlling the disease.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad at great expense equipped the hospital and provided additional physicians and nurses while the Red Cross maintained it. Since then the need of a general hospital has stood out as one of the vital ones and discussion of the project informally has resulted in this call by Chairman Hooper for a meeting at which the matter can be gone into with a view of taking definite action.

CURB MARKET IN DOUBT; PROJECT IS LACKING LEADER

Turners Not Enthusiastic, According to the County Agent, Who Has Been on Ground.

A curb market for Connellsville this year is still in the uncertain class. The question has been asked numerous times in the past two weeks but no concerted action has yet been taken in the project. The matter is being brought up and discussed all it needs is someone to take the lead and get things moving.

The county agent was a little skeptical at first but has been on the ground since the market was started. He has been very much encouraged by the fact that the market has been successful in the past.

MOTORISTS STONED

Former Connellsville Family Target of Youth's Near Addition

CONELLVILLE, Pa., July 18.—Wednesday evening about 9 o'clock at a point along the National Pike where the Maryland Pennsylvania state line crosses the pike between Addison and Grantsville, some young men full grown were noticed standing by a pile of balast used for repair work on the pike. Just as C. L. Black of Conellsville and Preston R. James of Grantsville formerly of Conellsville and Mrs. James also Vernon James and mother of Sam Bernardino Cal were riding by in their machine the men hurled a volley of sharp edged stones at the machine and its occupants.

Just what their men was is not exactly apparent. The men in the machine gave chase to the young desperadoes and followed them far into the woods. The pursuers had no weapons and abandoned the chase. Whether the young men seek to amuse themselves by stoning motorists and driving pursuers to follow them into another state or whether they had different intentions is not known. Autos are warned to look out for these persons.

Danger Lurks In Summer Foods For Babies

EVERY mother knows the evil effects of summer heat on her baby's milk. This danger is equally great to all foods unless carefully kept in a cool place away from insects.

Bad food loses its nourishing value. It causes constipation and diarrhea. These are at best always prevalent in the summer time. They depress the mind and weaken the body, and may cause more serious illness.

The first precaution is to see that the stools are regular and normal. In the case of babies and children, if less than twice a day you may suspect constipation; if more than three times a day, diarrhea. A remedy is then needed that will regulate and tone the bowels, and you will find more safety and better results in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that millions of mothers constantly have in the house for just such purposes.

A bottle of Syrup Pepsin can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1.00 for the family size. A free trial bottle can be had by sending your address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 450 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

JOSEPH C. LYTLE.

The funeral of Joseph C. Lytle was held yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from the family residence in East Fairview avenue, with members of King Solomon lodge, No. 346, F. & A. M., in charge. Rev. J. L. Proudfoot, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated, and Miss Elizabeth Mae Brown, accompanied by Miss Pearl Keck, sang a solo. The funeral was attended by many relatives and friends of the deceased. There were many handsome floral tributes. C. H. Kennel, F. W. Wright, G. E. Albrecht and J. W. Goldsmith were pallbearers. Among out of town persons attending were Mrs. Isabelle Reighard, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wittmer, Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Riefky, Miss Margaret Lytle and Milton Lytle, all of Pittsburg; C. A. HALF WATERMELON EACH GOOD ENOUGH FOR DUSKY BOXERS

Gretta park is a place that offers sufficient temptation to disregard so paltry a thing as a trifling order from headquarters (in their estimation).

Private John McGuire was called home yesterday and left on furlough, because of the serious illness of his mother. Company G hopes that his mother will speedily recover.

Private Ellis Nichols, familiarly known as "Dimes and Nickels," has been confined to the camp with rheumatism since arriving here, and the men in his tent have certain hours to watch—which are "pill hours" and "liniment hours." Some one stole his liniment (presumably to shine his rifle), but Ellis is undaunted so long as the pills hold out.

Melvin Johnson furnished amusement for the boys the other evening, when he referred to the mess tent as the "dining room." He will learn. Flanagan held services in his tent tonight for a select few. We have been unable to learn whether they were religious or not.

A. C. Stillwagon says we are treating him nicely down here. He was attached to the supply department of the aviation service at Middletown for 14 months and is well able to judge between the discipline maintained in the two organizations.

John Hartercorn was officially laid to rest by the battalion tonight. The "corpse" was escorted by some two hundred mourners in their shirt tails, preceded by a band of "different pieces" (literally—each man playing his own tune) and from the wailing and general uproar of the cortege, poor John must have been glad when his body was finally laid away.

Company K, next door, furnishes mandolin and guitar music every evening and several quartettes have been formed among the fellows. The effect at night is very pleasing.

Corporal John Pollock has accepted a challenge to box one of Company K's men tomorrow night. It will be a 10-round bout, and our money is on Pollock.

Mess Sergeant Harmon to Private Brahms: "Harry up. We are going to feed you shortly." Private Brahms: "Shortly, huh? Why don't you feed us fully once!"

Company Clerk Moore and your correspondent made up the payroll today and the boys signed it tonight. That seems to bring more cheer into the camp. Privates will receive $12 this encampment.

Health and Happiness

Women of today seem to listen to every call of duty except the supreme one that tells them to guard their health. Home duties, church duties, war activities, and the hundred-and-one calls for charitable enterprises soon lead women to overdo. Nervousness, headaches, backaches and female troubles are the inevitable result.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which, added to my weak condition, kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness. Health and happiness? Yes, I have both now."—Mrs. J. W. Worsburg, 2512 North Taylor Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of women nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. Avoid them by taking in time

McADOO'S ESTIMATE WAS THREE HUNDRED MILLIONS TOO LOW

Actual Increase in Operating Expense was $1,150,000 in 1918.

INCREASE IS CONTINUING

If Present Rate Is Maintained Total for Year Will Exceed 1918 by Over a Billion and a Half; The Difference Has Now Got to Be Made up.

The present wide discrepancy between the earnings needed by the railways and the earnings actually being made is shown by the Railway Age to have been due to a very great underestimate made by Director General of Railroads McAdoo a year ago as to the magnitude of the increase in operating expenses which was going to occur. Operating expenses are running at an unusual rate of three-quarters of a billion dollars greater according to the Railway Age, than the estimate made by Mr. McAdoo a year ago.

When Director General of Railroads McAdoo announced the values of 25 per cent in freight rates and 50 per cent in passenger rates on May 25, 1918, the Railway Age recalls, he said "It seems clear that the railroads should be made self-sustaining and that sufficient revenue should be provided to prevent them from becoming a burden to the public treasury. The immediate practical necessity is without delay that increases in rates should be made to provide for these increased costs of operation." In other words, the policy he announced was that of making the rates and earnings high enough to cover all increases of expenses. Many persons, therefore, find it hard to understand why, in view of the advances in rates made at that time the railways have fallen and are still falling so far short of earnings enough to pay their operating expenses and the guaranteed returns to the railway companies.

A review of the estimates of prospective expenses and of expenses actually incurred under government operation throws much light upon this matter and is highly interesting. In his statement on May 25, 1918, Mr. McAdoo said, referring to the increases in expenses which were occurring, "On account of these extraordinary increases in operating expenses which have come about as a consequence of the war it is estimated that the operating expenses of the calendar year 1918 will be from $330,000,000 to $360,000,000 more than for the calendar year 1917. His statement that the railroads should be made self-sustaining indicated that he believed the advances in rates he was about to make, and which were estimated at about a billion dollars a year, would be sufficient to cover all these increased expenses. But even at this time Mr. McAdoo had a very inadequate idea of the magnitude of the increases in expenses which were occurring and were going to occur because the actual total increase in 1918 was $1,150,000,000, or about $360,000,000 more than his maximum estimate.

As great, however, as was the increase in expenses in 1918 it is being far exceeded by the increase in 1919. For many reasons, wages and other operating costs which were made in 1918 did not begin to produce their full effect until 1919. The traffic which was landed in the first four months of 1919 was smaller than that handled in the first four months of 1917. The passenger business was larger but the freight business was 12 1/2 per cent less. On the other hand while operating expenses in the first four months of 1917 were $380,000,000 in the first four months of 1919 they were $1,780,000,000 an increase of about 57 per cent. If the increase in expenses through out the year 1919 should be relatively as large as it was in the first four months—and it is safe to assume that it will be—the operating expenses of 1919 will exceed those of 1918 by $1,500,000,000. In other words, although the traffic being handled in 1919 is less than it was in either 1918 or 1917, operating expenses are running about $1,400,000,000 more than the annual rate at which Mr. McAdoo estimated they would run when he made the big advances in freight and passenger rates a little over a year ago.

Mr. McAdoo simply underestimated the increase of expenses that was going to occur as a result of the policies he initiated and the difference has now got to be made up.

PROTEST BIG RAISE MADE BY BRITISH IN THE PRICE OF COAL

Labor and Industrial Heads Aroused; Government Leaders Make Statement.

The announced increase of six shillings ($1.50) a ton in the price of coal in England has evoked a storm of protest from all sides. The government apparently meant it to be an object lesson that the wages cannot be kept up and prices down. Labor, at the same time charges that the government wishes to kill the plan of nationalization and declares the conditions are misrepresented by hanging backkeeping.

Industry also raises its voice in protest with the assertion that manufacturing firms will be hard put to it facing the increase. The ultimate consumer as usual will have the boost passed on to him from the manufacturer.

Great export industries declare the increase in the price of coal will handicap them in their competition with other countries and may mean in some instances a stoppage of their plants and an increase in unemployment.

American competition especially is feared. It is said that Americans are now selling at less than English cost prices in London.

The government holds that the increase of six shillings was necessitated by increased wages granted as a result of the report from a commission headed by Sir John Sankey and the falling off of production. The present position of railways and mines is that there is government control with private ownership.

At a meeting of Northumberland miners William C. Adamson leader of the Labor party in the House of Commons said that the six shilling advance in coal was meant to stop a political stampede against the Lloyd George Administration and to kill nationalization.

BOLSHEVIK CONTROL'S DISASTROUS EFFECT ON RUSSIAN MINES

Coal Production in Don District, Richest in the Empire, Shows Big Decrease.

The disastrous effect of Bolshevik control of coal mines on production in Russia is shown by figures printed by the Bolshevik Economic Life published in Moscow.

Coal production in the Don district admitted by the richest in all Russia began to fall immediately after the Bolsheviks came to power. In December 1917 the total output was 90,000,000 pounds as against 114,000,000 pounds in November. (A pound equals 35 pounds.)

By April 1918 production had fallen to 45,000,000 pounds or 31.5 per cent of the production for April 1917. Figures for later months in 1918 have not been made public but they are said to be even worse. The total production for 1918 is said to have been only 10 per cent of that of the year previous.

The situation is said to be even worse in the Urals mines and the Bolshevik paper states frankly that the decline began immediately after the nationalization of the mines, in all the coal fields.

The total output for 1917 in the Urals mines was 98,800,000 pounds an average of 8,000,000 per month. From July to December the production dropped from 1,674,000 pounds to less than 800,000 pounds.

APPROPRIATION FOR GEOLOGICAL SURVEY CUT OFF

Sum of $40,000 For Getting Out Coal and Coke Figures is Refused.

ALL APPEALS ARE FUTILE

Fuel Administration, Secretary Lane and Dr. Otis, Director of Geological Survey, Work Faithfully to Secure the Funds for Continuation of Work.

Congress, by cutting an item of $40,000 from the sundry civil appropriation bill, has left the United States Geological Survey without funds with which to collect coal and coke production and distribution statistics for the fiscal year which began July 1. This may mean that the Survey will be unable to carry on this important work, unless some other provision is made for finances.
The Geological Survey, though hampered by a small force of clerical help, began issuing weekly reports on the distribution of coal and coke last spring. Shortly afterward the Fuel Administration, with unlimited funds, joined forces and the work went forward. Because of the termination of war activities by the Fuel Administration, the work has been stopped.

They could not, without additional funds, carry on the work. An appropriation of $40,000 was asked for. The appeal went unheeded and a hearing was refused Dr. Otis by the House subcommittee on appropriations. A similar appeal to the Senate that the item be included in the bill when it passed that body was without avail.

Officials of the Geological Survey were keenly disappointed over the failure of Congress to provide money for what they consider a very important work. "We are left high and dry," said one official, "and I don't know how we are going to get out the reports in the future."

"Experience has shown," said Secretary Lane in his appeal for the appropriation, "the real need of official information on the subject of coal production and distribution in the form of current statistics frequently collected and promptly issued by the government and it is the expressed desire of the Fuel Administration that provision be made for the continuation of work if only on a reduced scale."

"I regard as conservative the annual expenditure of $40,000 for thus keeping the public authoritatively informed as to the working conditions of this nation-wide industry, which represents a capital investment of more than $1,000,000,000 for the bituminous mines alone, which altogether employ an industrial army of 750,000 men, which furnishes not only the motive power for the railroads, but one-third of the freight carried, and which represents the constantly changing development of the nation's largest mineral resource."

MOUNT PLEASANT, July 18—A public meeting was called at the borough building last evening to interest persons in giving the "Fighting Tenth" a rousing reunion and welcome on Thursday, July 31. The meeting was called to order by Burgess S. P. Stevens, who asked that a chairman be elected and suggested that this chairman be Dr. B. M. Loar, since his father, Captain J. A. Loar, had successfully led the members of company E of the Tenth through the war. Dr. Loar was unanimously elected chairman. W. S. Christner was made secretary and Charles Clark treasurer.

It was decided that the chairman should appoint all committees. These committees will meet with Camp Malolos Spanish-American War veterans on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to further the celebration arrangements. A menu was handed out for all societies who wished to bid on the dinner to these men. It was decided that all money left after the Tenth had been properly entertained be turned into the memorial fund. It was stated that a good program will be arranged and a full day is promised.

Sunday School Class Entertained.
Mrs. Miller's class of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school met at the home of Miss Essie Trevis last evening. After a business meeting ice cream and cake were served and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all.

Missionary Meeting.
Mrs. Elizabeth McGregor entertained the United Brethren Missionary society at her Main street home yesterday afternoon. The subject was "Prayer." Mrs. K. C. Morrison was the leader. The next meeting will be held at the North Church street home of Mrs. C. E. Mullin in August and will be the annual picnic meeting.

Personal Mention.
Mrs. E. E. Bossart had as her guests the past few days her sister, Mrs. C. K. Young, of McKeesport, and her cousin, Miss Lillian Shaw, of Sebring, Ohio, who also visited her uncle, Mr. F. Cully.
Miss Isabella Smith left last evening to join her sister-in-law, Mrs. Nancy Smith, of Pittsburgh, on a visit to Mrs. Smith's home at Orange Va., where they expect to spend the remainder of the summer.

British Miner No Longer the Grimy
Individual He Has Been So Frequently Pictured.

A new type of miner is being evolved at Atherton, Lancashire, through the growing popularity of the baths at Messrs. Fletcher Burrows and company's collieries. At first only 10 per cent of the men used them; now the figure is 50 per cent. The miner now goes to work in tweeds and brown boots instead of his old clothes and does. He no longer bestrides the seats of trams and railway carriages with the grime of his calling. Nor does he drive his wife to despair with the amount of work he brings into the house each day. He goes home spruce and well groomed with no signs of the weariness so characteristic of the men "coming up."

"All the young men use the baths," said the keeper of the bathhouse. "Some of the older men don't."
"They are learning sense," volunteered an old miner. "And I wonder the women didn't teach it to some of them a bit sooner."
"Convenience!" His eyes twinkled. "Why, man, if I wanted to jazz I could bring my dress clothes here and be ready for the ball twenty minutes after I got out of the cage. No I'm not going to start jazzing—not at any time of life. But I might be going to a directors' banquet one of these days. You never know in these times." Fifteen minutes suffice for a miner's bath. Men in a hurry take a little less, besides a little more. They find their own soap and towels.—London Times

Splendid way to Reduce Your Weight

If there is perhaps no one thing that so plainly shows the passing of our youth as the horrible tendency to put on too much weight after we have reached the age of 25 or 30 years. If we were young our faces may appear, the sagging, flabby figure and forty inch waist "give us away."
The cause of this over stoutness is that our stomachs convert the food we eat into fat because there is not enough oxygen in the blood to produce a proper combustion to destroy the excess fatty tissue. Fat people will be pleased to learn of a simple home method that is wonderfully efficient in reducing weight quickly and easily without a "starving diet," violent massage or strenuous exercise. Go to any drug store and get a box of Phylona, take five grains after each meal and at bed time. This treatment will often give quick relief from overburdening fat. Phylona taken at meal time assists the stomach in getting you the benefit of the food you eat, at the same time dissolves the fatty tissues from any part of the body where there is excessive fat. By this method many have reduced their weight a pound a day and there is no facsimile left. Roy Hattell, Lauebury Drug Co., and A. A. Thorne can supply you with the genuine Phylona at a small cost.—Adv.

GROUNDHOGS EAT WHITEWASH FROM POLES ALONG HIGHWAYS OF STATE, DEPARTMENT CLAIM

HARRISBURG, July 18—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of whitewash from the bottoms of telegraph and telephone poles along state highway routes in western and north-eastern Pennsylvania has been solved. In Western Pennsylvania groundhogs are the guilty creatures, in north-eastern Pennsylvania the porcupines are the whitewash destroyers.

For some time highway department inspectors have been at a loss to understand why whitewash has been disappearing from the bottom of poles, to a height of 15 inches or two feet. In Westmoreland county, on the Lincoln highway, the lower parts of poles have been stripped for several miles. An inspector last week discovered the reason. He "was rolling" down an incline with his machine coasting. So silent was his approach that he was within 30 feet of two groundhogs before they became frightened—and ceased their attacks on the whitewash. The two were at work on the same pole. With their front claws they scraped off quantities of the whitewash. Then they ate it. Salt is used in making whitewash by the highway department. Groundhogs consider salt a rare delicacy. So do the northeastern Pennsylvania porcupines. As a result the highway department must re-whitewash a large number of poles.

PRESENTED UNDER HANDICAPS, PAGEANT IS AGAIN A SUCCESS

real wind played an important part. "The only thing which distinguished it as more exquisite than the Dance of Dawn however, was the fact that each of the four dancers is an artist in beautiful and each, in effect presented a solo dance, although they were on the greensward two by two. On the whole, the Dance of Dawn was thoroughly delightful, the delicate colors of the girls' draperies and their graceful greeting to the new day forming a scene worthy of an artist's brush. The Dance of the Winds was presented by Connelville girls and the other dances with the exception of those in the Fourth Episode were by Connelville and Brownsville groups."

The young women in the Dance of Dawn were Misses Gertrude Reid, Gladys Humbert, Angela Stader and Irene Soisson.

Continuing it says:
"Everything that skill and art could do to effect an artist's setting combined with faithful work on the part of the participants produced a picturesque and colorful tribute to the people and to the agencies which have made Fayette county a leader in the state and nation and for those lucky thousands seated near enough to the stage to be able to see the development and to hear the incidental music have been given beautiful memories of historic days to associate with the homecoming of their loved ones at the end of the Great World War."

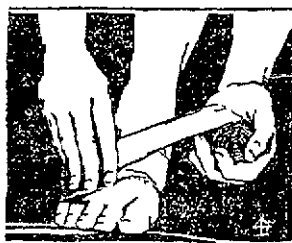

That leading men of the county from Connelville, Brownsville and Uniontown laid aside their business to take part in this and that hundreds and hundreds of persons gave unsparringly of time and talents to make an appealing, sympathetic, never-to-be-forgotten picture of what the last 200 years have meant to the Fayette county of today is a matter of widespread comment and congratulation today, even though unmoored and unavoidable forces combined to prevent its being on the overpowering success which such interest and such a theme warranted.

The pageant was conceived by Mrs. J. F. Kerr of this city and written by Miss Alpha Burkhardt of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Kerr was in charge of the production while Mrs. Charles B. Cuck, headed the Uniontown committee. The chorus of 300 was in charge of R. L. Werner of Connelville, with E. T. Chamberlain assisting. Only a few changes were made in the cast, principally in the episodes presented by Uniontown. Wooda A. Carr played Albert Gallatin and Lieutenant John L. Robinson appeared as Lafayette's son.

FURNACE HEAT without PIPES

Wireless and Pipeless

When Marconi announced his invention of the Wireless Telegraph thousands doubted his sanity. "No man can use the air to take the place of a telegraph wire," they said. Soon, however, messages were reaching the world without the use of wires. When The Monitor Stove Company announced that it had perfected a furnace which would heat the home more uniformly and economically than ever before and without the use of pipes, many people said it could not be done. Today the message of Caloric comfort has been heard and heeded around the world. Marconi and Monitor have safeguarded the lives of men and property by making use of relatively simple natural laws. Both have accomplished remarkable results through inventions which are protected by patents.

CALORIC
The Original Patented Pipeless Furnace

WHAT IT DOES

The CALORIC, the Original Patented Pipeless Furnace, heats your entire home, new or old, three rooms to eighteen, through only one register and without pipes. It also gives splendid results in churches, stores and factories.

The CALORIC heats uniformly and thoroughly. Whether your house be of the bungalow type, with all rooms on one floor, or two or three stories high—all the rooms will be warm and comfortable.

The CALORIC saves from one-third to one-half of your fuel. The same amount of coal, coke, wood, gas or lignite which will heat two or three rooms through stoves, will heat the entire house through the CALORIC. Or, if you are now heating your entire house, the CALORIC will do the same work better with one-half to two-thirds as much fuel.

The CALORIC is easily and quickly installed in any house, new or old, and without interfering with your present heating system. Where there is no cellar, a pit can be dug large enough to hold the furnace and the fuel supply.

The CALORIC reduces fire risk, as all the heat comes up through the center of the register, while the cool air is constantly passing down through the outer part of the register.

The CALORIC is guaranteed by The Monitor Stove Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, as well as by ourselves. More than fifty thousand enthusiastic owners from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon, testify that the CALORIC is and does all we claim.

AND HOW IT OPERATES

The CALORIC is not a pipe furnace with the pipes left off; neither is it an experiment hastily put together for the purpose of meeting a demand. It is specially designed and built from the ground up to heat buildings more uniformly, economically and satisfactorily than they have ever been heated by other systems.

The CALORIC principle of operation is very simple and is based upon the natural law that warm air rises and cold air falls. In the same volume that the warm air is distributed into a building, an equal amount of cold air is drawn into the furnace, where it is re-heated, moistened by the vapor from the two-gallon water pan and then re-circulated through the register. In this manner the constant circulation of properly moistened, warm air is kept up, just as running water purifies itself, so this circulating warm air, passing through heat of from 300 to 800 degrees, is kept pure and healthful. The patented and original features which are used only in the CALORIC construction, make possible the complete re-circulation and sterilization of the air.

Now this is merely an outline of the principle of operation of the CALORIC. A full description is given in our interesting and instructive catalog. A copy will be furnished on request.

CLAUDE HENDRIX IS WORTH MONEY ASKED

Confidence and Determination Are Important Factors.

Has Supplied Brand of Ball That Vanke Him as One of Leading Fingers of Cub Staff—Will Make Others Hurry

That confidence and determination are two important factors in the success of a ball player is apparent in the work of Pitcher Claude Hendrix of the Cubs. Early this spring the big right hander refused to sign his contract because he thought he was not paid. He demanded an increase, and was the only real holdout of President Mitchell. He left the team in Kansas City and did not rejoin it until after the season began. He held out because he had confidence in his ability to convince Mitchell he was worth the stipend he asked. Since he rejoined the club he has shown unlimited determination to make good and has succeeded.

There probably was not a pitcher on the Cub staff who toiled with more assiduity than Hendrix on the training trip. He was dissatisfied with the terms given him in his contract, but on the journey through California, Arizona, Texas and Oklahoma he did not approach the president once. It was his desire to let the boss judge for himself. Mitchell evidently did not think Hendrix was worth more than he offered him and let him quit the club but later on had a change of mind and sent for the pitcher and signed him writes Oscar Reichow in Chicago News.

Hendrix was away from the club for nearly two weeks but in that time he did not loaf. He felt the club would need him and eventually ask him to report. He was not wrong and when he did join he was in fairly good shape and it did not take much time to get back in the condition he was in when the club closed its training trip in Kansas City. About one week was all Hendrix required. At the end of that time he reported himself as fit to take his turn on the slab and since then has twirled as effectively as any man on the staff.

President Mitchell was not sure of Hendrix and let him finish a few games before he decided to start him. He relieved Douglas in one game and Alexander in two. In all but the last one he surprised the manager with his work. Wildness was his trouble in the game he relieved Alexander, but he was so fast and revealed so sharp a breaking spitball that the manager decided he was sufficiently effective to take his turn on the rubber.

Since being used as a regular Hendrix has supplied a brand of ball that ranks him as one of the leading fingers on the Cub staff. It also explains why he led the league last year in the number of games won and lost. His average for 1913 was 741 for having won twenty and lost seven games. If he continues the form he has displayed in the last two weeks he will probably beat that record and will make Grover Alexander and Jim Vaughn hustle to retain the honors of being the stars of the club.

MAKES A BASE HIT AND WINS GUAM BALL GAME

Marines in Guam have the ball game and peanut habit just like all good Americans back in the states. Only this time they have started something new in the national sport. In a recent game between the Agana and Sumay marines, running through 15 innings, the last four innings were played by the light of a full moon rising over the palms which border the plaza in a game played by moonlight almost anything is likely to happen. Mention of Sumay started things for his team when he mailed a ball in the post office through a hole in the screen of one of the windows. The Agana fielder was unable to recover it without violating section H20 of the local postal regulations and the Sumay boys walked home with the bacon.

UNIFORM MAKES HIT

The Southern league rule that managers must not appear in uniform unless listed as active players doesn't bother Carlton Molerworth. The fat manager of the Birmingham team does a flannel shirt and a pair of overalls before each game puts his team through its hitting and fielding practice as an 'active' participant, then retires to the bench when the game begins. His workout rig is said to make a great hit with the fans.

Engle recently was released by the Cleveland club. Paddy Bamman, a former Yank, joined the Skeeters on their trip to the north. Old Cy Pieb, a team mate of Bamman on the Yagkees has hooked up again with the Newark Bears.

Leslie Nussamaker was awarded $4,500 for injuries received in an automobile accident last December. The St. Louis catcher sued for $15,000.

Although little is said about the fielding of Z. A. Terry and G. W. Cutshaw of the Pittsburgh Nationals, they are putting up a splendid defensive game around second base.

SEES PICKWICK AS JOHNSON

Canadian Writer Believes Dickens' Famous Character Was Sketch of the Great Lexicographer

A discussion has arisen between E. R. Thompson in the Nineteenth Century and a writer in the Toronto Mail and Empire as to whether Dickens' famous character of "Mr. Pickwick" is an adaptation of the personality of Dr. Samuel Johnson. The magazine writer holds that this is the case, that the novelist was inspired by James Boswell's "Life of Johnson" and that the alleged plagiarism is proved by a certain characterization of Pickwick which coincides almost to a word with one of Boswell's descriptions of Johnson.

The Toronto writer believes if Dickens did copy his character from the noted lexicographer he did it unconsciously and without any attempt to steal the fruits of Boswell's writing. It is admitted that there are many points of resemblance between Pickwick and Johnson. Both were rather portly men. They had a common weakness for the use of reason and dignified speech, both had little difficulty in "unmuzzling" immense reserves of dignity to suppress the impudent or the flippant and both had great hearts.

"But," says the Mail and Empire writer, "we have not the imagination to picture Doctor Johnson disporting himself on skates after the fashion of Mr. Pickwick and there is a sort of kindly credulity about the latter that we find distinctly lacking in Johnson. Moreover, we never suspect Mr. Pickwick of being a bully, although it is to be admitted that when he orders the skates of Mr. Winkle to be removed he shows a Johnsonian sternness and impatience with pretense."

To Build Up Permanently Nature At Its Best As An Aid.

If you who are weak, nervous and run down from over work, worry or any other cause would only realize that the summer months is the time to build up strength and vigor there would not be so many collapses and runnings for aid during the winter. The plan to follow is simple—plenty of rest and good wholesome food along with a strength creating body building tonic. Chasco Vin with its iron, manganese, phosphorus, potassium and other strength making ingredients is the tonic we suggest. If you follow this plan carefully you will not get a wonderful improvement in two weeks time. But don't give up too soon.

HER TROUBLED MIND CAME FROM ILLS OF THE BODY

But Mrs. Schnatterly, of Hopwood, Soon Called Nerv-Worth to the Rescue.

Out-of-town sufferers are profiting by Nerv-Worth virtues in the same manner as do the city buyers and the former are quite as keen to tell neighbors and friends as are the grateful city folks. Here's the latest proof. It was given a short time ago to Uniontown's Nerv-Worth druggist. Wade H. Guyton—For years I have been very nervous and all run down. Gas tormented my stomach and pressed my heart and caused it to palpitate and intermit. This greatly alarmed me and I was in a troubled state of mind and uneasy as to the result. I had severe headaches. I tried all kinds of remedies but got not relief whatever.

I noticed Nerv-Worth statements in the papers from persons I knew who had been greatly benefited and purchased two bottles of Nerv-Worth and took it as directed and am glad to say all ailments mentioned have gone. I feel like a new woman. Sleep is good, stomach and digestion fine, good appetite and no more pain. Nerv-Worth did wonders for me.

MANAGER MORAN KEPT KOPF

Youngster Promises to Be One of Shining Stars in National League This Season.

Leave it to Pat Moran to save himself an ace for the day of the big emergency. He managed to retain Larry Kopf, who originally was slated to go to the Dodgers, but refused, and the youngster who broke into the main show a few years ago as substitute infielder for the Athletics promises to be one of the outstanding stars of the National league this season. Kopf already has made good, but his admirers say he is going to ascend to even loftier heights. Both in fielding and batting Kopf has been one of the stars of the Reds and Moran doesn't hesitate to express his admiration for the youngster. Moran, it is evident now, accomplished a ten strike for the Reds and himself when he kept Kopf for Cincinnati.

MINERS FROM 16 STATES TO SHOW FIRST AID SKILL

National Contest Scheduled For Pittsburgh, September 30 to October 1.

BEST TEAMS ARE ENTERED

Local or State Competitions: Determined Representatives to Final Tournament Under Auspices of U. S. Bureau of Mines; Mine Rescue.

First aid teams from 16 mining states will compete in a national meet at Pittsburgh, September 30 to October 1, under the auspices of the United States Bureau of Mines. What America can do in the way of binding wounds will be shown by men, many of whom carried their knowledge of first aid to the battle fields of Europe during the war. The meet will be in connection with the dedication of the new Bureau of Mines buildings at Pittsburgh.

Already coal and metal miners throughout the country are engaging in preliminary meets, at which the best teams of various companies are chosen to participate.

It is estimated that out of the million or more miners in the United States, more than 100,000 are well trained in emergency first aid work and have been instrumental in saving lives. It is frequently found by hospital surgeons that first aid treatment has saved a patient's life.

Much is expected of Connellsville's Coal region teams in the national meet for first aid has been carried to a high degree of efficiency in this section.

Universal interest is being shown in first aid at this time. "Vigilance of not it is the reaction from the killing of men in the recent world war or the release from the strain of the tremendous war production of coal," said Director Manning of the Bureau of Mines, "the miner today is bending his best interests to the saving of life. From the reports that come to me, there is the utmost enthusiasm in these first aid and rescue meets and almost as much interest as if the national meet were a country-wide athletic contest involving the whole people. The national meet promises to break all preceding events in numbers and enthusiasm. It is to be the miners' own field day, in their own way, and the honors are to go to the most efficient, the most skilled in the saving of human life. I expect that this national miners' tournament will have a wholesome effect on the industries of the country generally."

Mine rescue teams, located at various points in the mining regions, are also to participate in the national demonstration.

TOOK LIBERTY WITH FACTS

Author of "The Luck of Eden Hall" Admitted That He Drew on His Imagination.

The author of the poem, "The Luck of Eden Hall," was Johann Ludwig Uhland, a German poet of the first half of the nineteenth century, who first put that romantic legend into verse and later it was dressed in English rhyme by Longfellow. As the story goes, the young lord of the manor during a night of drunken revelry, demanded the drinking glass called "The Luck of Eden Hall." The butler "heard the words with pain, but brought the goblet which the thyrer nobles amused. Instantly flames cracked the ceiling and the persons surrounding the feral board became dust. The straightforward American poet explains at the heading of his translation that in spite of the tragic ending of the poem the glass is still in existence, and so it is today. It is six inches high, of pale green glass, exquisitely enameled in blue and white. Practical folk say that it probably came originally from Spain, where it was used as a chalice in communion service, but the original story goes that it was left at St. Outhbert's well by a company of friars.

It was Ever-True: Mr. Smith, hearing music and singing at his neighbor's house, decided he would drop in and see how they were.

Mr. Jones, welcomed him and ushered him into the parlor where his daughter was playing the piano and his son singing. Mr. Smith begged them to continue. They consented.

The first song they selected was "Mother." They sang this very feelingly and then joined in on the chorus. This was followed by "Mother Macre" and others of like sentiment on songs about mother—how true they were, how dear and how they loved to sing them.

Then, as Mrs. Jones hadn't appeared yet, Mr. Smith inquired about her state of health.

"Oh," said Mr. Jones, "she's well enough. She's in the kitchen doing the dishes, but after she has finished and has taken in the wood she'll join us."

If you want the cleanest of white teeth and healthy gums free from disease, an easy and quick way to get both is to use a tooth paste so effective and perfect that astonishing results usually come in a week's time.

And the cost is so little. Just go to any drug or department store, and get a large tube of SENRECO TOOTH PASTE for 35 cents.

Not only will it make your teeth clean and white, but it will at once remove any sticky coating, help to check the ravages of Pyorrhea and banish acidity in the mouth.

It is used by thousands of dentists and its sale has been remarkable. When you visit your dentist, which you should do at least twice a year, ask him about SENRECO. It's a most delightful and refreshing tooth paste.

"DADDY LONG LEGS"—The National's initial Mary Pickford release will be shown Monday and Tuesday. Everyone has seen conversation carried on through using the hands. In "Daddy Long Legs" Mary Pickford talks with her feet. There is never a dull moment in the picture. Judy Abbott, the lovable little orphan of Jean Webster's book, who begins life with a role of newspapers for her first garments, and and ash can for her crib, and whose early years are spent in John Greer's orphanage, is well known to the reading public of all ages. For those who are not acquainted with Judy's history the following facts will show the desirability of being among those present when Mary and her "Daddy Long Legs" comes to town. Just who put Judy in that ash can and then ran off and left her is never found out. From the ash can she is escorted to the station by a policeman, and then taken to the orphanage. When she is next seen she has grown to a wistful eyed girl of 13, whose love of fun cannot be subdued. Her side partner and companion in all her defying of the rules is a snub-nosed boy who has more freckles to the square inch than any youngster who has so far aspired to be a movie actor. One of the most comic incidents of the picture is the prime strike, led by Judy and her companion. The growth of Judy's character as a "kick" is as gradually made long as is depicted by the far with uniform expertise and at commencement day when all the other girls rush to show their diplomas to their friends and relatives, poor Judy has not one friendly face in the crowd, her pathos touches the right crowd.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE FEAR WOMAN"—The newest of the Pauline Frederick Goldwyn pictures is being shown today. The celebrated star is easily at her best as Helen Winthrop, a girl who is haunted by a fear which she conquers with splendid dramatic effect. With everything a girl could wish for, she is miserable lest her father's weakness for drink manifest itself in her and destroy both her own happiness and that of the man she is to marry. Forgiven beyond endurance, Helen breaks her engagement at the altar, just before the marriage is consummated, and sends Robert Craig (Milton Sills) away from her forever. Subsequent episodes show the big sacrifice she makes for her friend, Stella Scott, and the curious situations in which Helen finds herself at a fashionable summer hotel. She is amused at the amorous attentions of a laughable boy, Percy Farwell, and when his mother in alarm sends for a lawyer to save Percy from the clutches of the adventures she believes Helen to be, no one foresees the turn affairs will take. For the lawyer is none other than Robert Craig. Not only is the play vivid, absorbing and compelling—a human document of remarkable fidelity to life—but Miss Frederick herself declares that never before has she been enabled so fully to express tragic motions, nor to be so freely herself with such satisfying results.

George immediately seized pen and paper, p. intuitively but vigorously requesting Lucy not to imagine him with a beard, distinguished or otherwise, even in the extremities of age. Then after inscribing his protest in the matter of this visioned beard, he concluded his missive in a tone mollified to tenderness, and proceeded to read a letter from his mother which had reached him simultaneously with Lucy's. Isabel wrote from Asheville, where she had just arrived with her husband:

"I think your father looks better already, darling, though we've been here only a few hours. It may be we've found just the place to build him up. The doctors said they hoped it would prove to be, and if it is, it would be worth the long struggle we had with him to get him to give up and come. I'm afraid that in my anxiety to get him to do what the doctors wanted him to, I wasn't able to back up Brother George as I should in his difficulty with Sydney and Amelia. I'm so sorry George is more upset than I've ever seen him—they've got what they wanted, and they're sailing before long. I hear to live in Florence. Father said he couldn't stand the constant persuading—I'm afraid the word he used was 'nagging.' I can't understand people behaving like that. George says they may be Ambersons, but they're vulgar; I'm afraid I almost agree with him. At least, I think they were inconsiderate."

"We plan to stay six weeks if the place agrees with him. It does really seem to already! He's just called in the door to say he's waiting. Don't smoke too much, darling boy."

"Devotedly your mother,"

"ISABEL."

But she did not keep her husband there for the six weeks she anticipated. She did not keep him anywhere that long. Three weeks after writing this letter, she telegraphed suddenly to George that they were leaving for home at once; and four days later, when he and a friend came whistling into his study, from lunch at the club, he found another telegram upon his desk.

He read it twice before he comprehended its import.

"Papa left us at ten this morning, dearest."

"MOTHER"

The friend saw the change in his face. "Not bad news?"

George lifted utterly dumfounded eyes from the yellow paper.

"My father," he said weakly. "She says—she says he's dead. I've got to go home."

His Uncle George and the Major met him at the station when he arrived—the first time the Major had ever come to meet his grandson. The old gentleman sat in his closed carriage (which still needed paint) at the entrance to the station, but he got out and advanced to grasp George's hand tremulously, when the latter appeared. "Poor fellow!" he said, and patted him repeatedly upon the shoulder. "Poor fellow! Poor George!"

George noticed that the Major's tremulousness did not disappear, as they drove up the street, and that he seemed much feebler than during the summer. Principally, however, George was concerned with his own emotion, or rather, with his lack of emotion, and the anxious sympathy of his grandfather and his uncle made him feel hypocritical. He was not grief-stricken; but he felt that he ought to be, and, with a secret shame, concealed his callousness beneath an affectation of solemnity.

But when he was taken into the room where lay what was left of Wilbur Minner, George had no longer to pretend; his grief was sufficient. It needed only the sight of that forever inert semblance of the quiet man who had been always so quiet a part of his son's life—so quiet a part that George had seldom been consciously aware that his father was indeed a part of his life. As the figure lay there, its very quietness was what was most life-like; and suddenly it struck George hard. And in that unexpected, racking grief of his son, Wilbur Minner became more vividly George's father than he had ever been in life.

When George left the room, his arm was about his black-robed mother, his shoulders were still shaken with sobs. He leaned upon his mother; she gently comforted him; and presently he recovered his composure and became self-conscious enough to wonder if he had not been making an unmanly display of himself. "I'm all right again, mother," he said awkwardly. "Don't worry about me; you'd better go to bed, or something; you look pretty pale."

Isabel did look pretty pale, but not ghostly pale, as Fanny did. Fanny's grief was overwhelming; she stayed in ner room, and George did not see her until the next day, a few minutes before the funeral, when her haggard face appalled him.

The annoyance gave way before a recollection of the sweet mournfulness of his mother's face, as she had said good-by to him at the station and of how lovely she looked in her mourning. He thought of Lucy, whom he had seen only twice and he could not help feeling that in these quiet interviews he had appeared to her as tinged with heroism—she had shown, rather than said, how brave she thought him. When he went back to college, what came most vividly to George's mind, during retrospections, was the despairing face of his Aunt Fanny. Again and again he thought of it; he could not avoid its haunting. Her grief had been so silent, yet it had so amazed him.

George felt more and more compassion for this ancient antagonist of his, and he wrote to his mother about her:

"I'm afraid poor Aunt Fanny might think now father's gone we won't want her to live with us any longer and because I always teased her so much she might think I'd be for turning her out. I don't know where on earth she'd go or what she could live on if we did do something like this, and of course we never would do such a thing but I'm pretty sure she had something of the kind on her mind. She didn't say anything, but the way she looked is what makes me think so. Honestly, to me she looked just scared sick. You tell her there isn't any danger in the world of my treating her like that. Tell her everything is to go on just as it always has. Just tell her to cheer up."

Isabel did more for Fanny than telling her to cheer up. Everything that Fanny inherited from her father, old Aleck Minner, had been invested in Wilbur's business; and Wilbur's business, after a period of illness corresponding in dates to the illness of Wilbur's body, had died just before Wilbur did. George Amberson and Fanny were both "wiped out to a miracle of precision," as Amberson said. They "owned not a penny and owed not a penny," he continued, explaining his phrase. "It's like the moment just before drowning—you're not under water and you're not out of it. All you know is that you're not dead yet."

He spoke philosophically, having his "prospects" from his father to fall back upon; but Fanny had neither "prospects" nor philosophy. However, a legal survey of Wilbur's estate revealed the fact that his life insurance was left clear of the wreck; and Isabel, with the cheerful consent of her son promptly turned this salvage over to her sister-in-law. Invested, it would yield something better than nine hundred dollars a year, and thus she was assured of becoming neither a pauper nor a dependent, but proved to be, as Amberson said, adding his efforts to the cheering up of Fanny, "an heiress, after all, in spite of rolling mills and the devil."

The collegian did not return to his home for the holidays. Instead, Isabel joined him, and they went South for the two weeks. She was proud of her stalwart, good-looking son at the hotel where they stayed, and it was meat and drink to her when she saw how people stared at him in the lobby and on the big verandas—indeed, her vanity in him was so dominant that she was unaware of their staring at her with more interest and an admiration friendlier than George evoked.

BASEBALL STORIES

Grover Lowdermilk, castoff of the Browns, may make good with the Sox.

Pitcher Bill James has been sold by the Detroit Tigers to the Red Sox.

Cyril Slapnicka seems to be having trouble as a comeback with Birmingham.

If it wasn't for Pitcher Sam Crews, Birmingham would be up against it in the Southern league race.

Third Baseman Billy Webb of the Birmingham team is out of the game with a dislocated knee.

"Go out and get 'em early," that's the dope of the gingersy and watchful Gleason, who never sleeps on his job.

Brooklyn critics are complimenting Ernie Krueger on his good work in handling the pitchers for Robinson's team.

Nick Altrock, who is a good old scout, has gone out scouting for the Washington club "for pitching material."

O. L. Bigbee, who is playing center field for the Pittsburgh Nationals, is a very promising newcomer to major league circles.

When Tony Faeth pitches the Milwaukee fans can generally count on a victory, but one pitcher does not make a ball team.

George Sisler, star batsman and first baseman of the St. Louis Browns, was slow in getting started this spring, but now appears to have reached his stride.

July The Month of Opportunity!

EVERY YEAR thrifty people plan to do a lot of shopping in July, because it is a great clean-up month, when stocks are sold out to get ready for the new season. But this year there is a far greater reason why July is a wonderful month for economical shopping.

Market prices are steadily advancing!

As the costs to all sorts of labor goes up, the costs of all sorts of materials must follow; for labor is the largest factor of cost, in raw products as well as in manufactured products; and wherever the hand of man or woman touches a commodity in the process of its manufacture, it adds to its cost, in a larger degree than ever before.

By next Fall you will have to pay more for almost everything you buy. But today and all this month, our store is filled with wanted goods selling at the present low basis of cost, and every item, whether marked at a special July price or not, offers a large price saving, when compared with what you will need pay for the same goods in the Fall.

Thrifty folks who read the signs of times will buy everything possible now and lay it away for next Fall.

From time to time different departments of the store are having special price reductions on scores of things and no foresighted man or woman will miss the opportunity presented except at their large loss when they buy later on.
